FALL OF VICESBURG AND PORT HUDSON .- Speaking of the air of Vicasburg and Port Hudson, the Mobile Tribune truthling says :

Here are two of the most important places lost to us, and the war, in all probability, prolonged a twelvemouth, at a cost of hundreds of millions; lives innumerable, and an amount of distress inconceivable, for a lack of what could have been easily obtained at the cost of a lew tundred thousand dollars

We do not question the valor of our armies at the two points abuded to, or the fighting qualities and skill of the commanders, but it is impossible to deny that ties of 6th N. Yours respectfully, D. M. Yeln PIBE. A. A. A. G. From the Charleston Comier.

THE SIEGE OF CHARLESTON. We are enabled this morning to present our readers Company D-Killed-Private P B Carlton. Wounded- with a reliable and connected narrative of the late night assault on Battery Wagner, and the principal antecedeat events of the day.

First, it should be stated that the Federals occupy the Southern half of Morris' Island, embracing about two hiles. Every available point of attack on this space had been made to bristle with their cannon. On Gregg's Hill, or "Look out," (as it was termed during our bombardment of Fort Sumter) they had erected batteries and a signal station, and these, with the fleet, p'ayed steadily upon our works for several days. Meanwhile the enemy industriously prepared other fortifications on the Island, the pearest being about three fourths of a mile from Fort Wagner. The others were located on the line of Gregg's Hill, and extended about THE LATE YANKEE BAID ON THE WIL. & WEL. a mile to the left, looking Northward from that point. Company F - K lled-Private G G Pertigrew. Wounded | The latter were comparatively out of effective range.-These preparations being completed, the fleet prepared to co operate with the land batteries, and accordingly on the morning of the eighteenth, it moved into line, the whole forming an immense semi circle of are. A few minutes after 8 o'clock in the morning the bombardment commenced, and from this time increased one of the grandest and most harrul storms of shot and shell ever rained upon a battery on this Continent. No language can do justice to the scene at this time. The sound was like a long continued reverberation of thunder, peal following peal in succession, so rapid that oncould scarcely discern an interval. The air was filled | was Capt. Thompson, by a ball through the right wrist .with a but sting storm of iron, who e solid mass s and He arrived in town this morning. e a high in air, while still more pene rated and were nite outside of military circles. hast to sight in the broad earthen sides of the battery. On right and left could be seen shooting out a tongue of flame from every gun, and then fautesuc shapes of smoke would linger for a moment, and drift away in clustering banches, fisteens and spiral wreaths to min

Through all this terrible ordeal our availlerists, consisting of Captains Tatum and Adams' Companies of South Carolina Regulars, detachments from Captains Buckner and Dixon's Companies from the 63d Georgia Regiment, and the Charleston Battalion of Infantry, bravely maintained their positions in the Fort. Nine thousand shot and shell, as is estimated, fell around them-killing some and maining others, but they never | quota of the city is definitely determined upon. A work flinched.

The casualties during the day did not exceed eight killed and twenty wounded. Among the many incidents related, is one which has before been published, but is repeated here for a correction. When the Confederate flag was shot down, Major Ramsay, Lieutenant Reddick, of the 631 Georgia Volunteers, and Sergeants Shelton and Figure, of the Charleston Battalion, under a heavy fire immediately replaced it on the staff At the same time Captain Barnwell, of the Engineers. seizing a battle flag planted it on the ramparis. The enemy advanced as has before been described, and were received with a terrible fire of grape, canister and small arms, from the long line of the Fifty-first North Carolina, and the Charleston Battalion, the latter by reason of their position pouring on the advancing columns an enfluding fire. By these two commands the Federals were handsomely repelled, and left behind them a ground strewn with dead and wounded.

I tru-t that you will eiten recur to this important ubject, and keep constantly b fore the minds of our peo le me necesy of vigilance and action. You are not alone in knowing that a deep game is about to be attempted to be a syel up n the people of North Carolina, by H den and a lew her leaders of the so called Conse vatives. The is us is made. We are to have a war-party and an aut wa party m North Carolina The war party are the friends of he Administration and the Government, and the acvocates of Southern Independence. They are for the war as an indispeasable means of peace. Their dectrine is to conquer a peace by the valor of our troops, and the invincible spirit of a people, asie and determined to be free and incepenruth, that no nation with anything like the strength and sources of the bouth was ever conquered, they are B ged on by the rights and interests of the South, a d by the bio d and beroic deeds of her wounded an i dead, to fight to the buter end; until the North shall b ready, by a sir and honorable settlement, to recognise ar independence. The anti-war party are opposed to the Administration and to the Government, and by words and acts seek to weaken both. They are full of patriotic prome-less, and are loud in denomicing the despotic acts of Lincoln; they nestrate as yet openly to advicate submission and reconstruction, but then air and manner, ther gloomy convercation, and their whole course indicate their hearts to be in layor of submission and a reconstruction of the old Uaon.
